General assessment formatting guidelines

The following guidelines apply to assessment tasks within the unit (apart from the quizzes);

- Font- Calibri or Arial size 12
- Spacing- 1.5 line spacing
- Alignment - Left align text ('References' heading centred). Use standard margins.
- Header or footer - with name, student number and page numbers
- Word count- prescribed count +/- 10%. Headings are included. (In-text citations and your reference list are not included in the word count.)
- Referencing- Referencing for all assessments in NUR132 is as per CDU APA 7th style, available at the following URL: <http://libguides.cdu.edu.au/cdureferencing/apa>

Planning your assessment task

The following link will direct you to the CDU Assignment scheduler, which will provide you with a timeline and guide to completing your assessment in an organised manner. It also contains some excellent supportive academic writing resources- <https://imps.cdu.edu.au/tools/assignment-scheduler/>

Applying for an extension

If there are unforeseen circumstances impacting the timely submission of assessment tasks, please access 'Request an extension' in the 'Assessments folder.

Requesting further feedback

Written feedback on each marked assessment task will be provided through the rubric and annotated comments throughout your submission. If you feel that you would benefit from further clarification on any feedback received, please do not hesitate to be in touch via email with your unit coordinator. It may help to focus your query by utilising the form attached below.

Description: Presentation

Percentage: 40%

Duration/ word count: 10 minutes/500 words

Submission: Via Learnline

Due Date: Wednesday week 8 at 11:59pm (Darwin Time)

Relevance:

Using communication to provide safe care is an integral part of nursing and midwifery care. The use of ISBAR to communicate and share key information has been shown to be effective in managing and minimising harm in healthcare. ISBAR is a standard communication tool used to share information in handover and acute deterioration. All midwives, nurses and training midwives and nurses must be aware of this critical process.

Learning Outcomes

- Identify verbal and non-verbal communication strategies and standards that enable therapeutic communication and interprofessional relationships
- Explain how cultural sensitivity and cultural safety aid in the establishment of effective communication with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and other multicultural communities
- Demonstrate a high level of written and spoken English according to academic conventions and professional nursing standards.
- Demonstrate effective communication through clinical handover and the legal documentation of essential information in healthcare records to ensure patient safety

Task Instructions

Develop and present a 10-minute digital presentation that addresses the following:

5. Discuss how the ISBAR approach to handover aligns with the 'communicating for safety' national standards that govern acute and aged care.
6. Use literature (journal articles, textbooks, research publications and national standards) to support the content
7. Narrate and elaborate upon your argument using the appropriate literature to support your points
8. Put the references in-text on the slides and include them in a reference list at the end
9. Use PowerPoint to present the content (with embedded audio narration)

10. Submit a maximum 500 words script summary (in-text references are not required for your transcript, but you should provide a reference list)
11. Load your script summary after the reference list in your PowerPoint
12. Upload the presentation onto Learnline

The following file provides some further task instructions for your presentation and a task formatting exemplar:

Please note: It is a student's responsibility to ensure that the narrated presentation plays and that the audio is clear. The presentation is not to exceed 10 minutes in duration. The presentation should draw on your knowledge of communication and culture that you have gained from this unit. The word count of your script summary includes the script, and excludes the reference list.

Marking Instructions: Please access the marking rubric to ensure that you are maximising your marks in your submission.
